EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

By John Ford

(361) 592-9357 | jford@santagertrudis.com

One of the challenges faced by associations and organizations is that of declining membership. Today's complex and competitive world has changed the way individuals view association membership, participation and, most importantly, value. Analyzing demographics, industry trends and data, it is easy to spot a number of obstacles that limit breed association membership growth. However, increasing SGBI's membership is an action that the Board of Directors and I take seriously, and we are committed to long-term association growth. It has been said that with challenges come opportunities, and I agree. There are countless opportunities on the horizon for SGBI and I am confident our association is perfectly positioned for membership growth.

Times have changed; pastures that once grazed cattle are now covered with homes and businesses. Town and country are merging and the two are becoming indistinguishable. The average age of a cattle producer in the United States is now 59 and the average lifespan for a purebred operation is less than 8 years. The number of tax incentives associated with cattle ownership has dwindled substantially and America is an urban nation. The country's population is now three, four or more generations removed from the farm or ranch, and the majority of urban America lacks basic knowledge regarding food production. Financing for the purchase of agricultural land or a herd of cattle is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain, and even finding enough acres capable of maintaining a small herd is extremely difficult. SGBI has not been immune to these changes, and the result has been a steady decline in membership over the last 10 to 15 years. As an association, we must be honest and acknowledge the prospect of SGBI membership rebounding to the levels seen 25 and 30 years ago is highly unlikely. However, SGBI can and will grow if we understand that the beef industry is in transition, and to prosper our focus must be centered on profitability for all industry members.

In my opinion, following the herd re-building phase now occurring, value-based marketing will become the major price driver in the industry. That is how it should be; cattlemen should be rewarded for producing a calf that hits industry targets, and premiums or discounts should not be based on hide color or breed composition. Beef community members agree nothing affects profitability more than genetics, and having a documented genetic package ensures feeders and packers can identify animals that will perform as they move through the production chain to the consumer. SGBI's genetic evaluation places us ahead of the majority of our competitors, allowing breeders, feeders and packers to identify and document cattle that will perform in the pasture, in the yard, on the rail and on the plate. Industry members are taking notice and there is a new level of excitement and increased interest in Santa Gertrudis' genetic package.

As the beef industry continues to evolve, we will see fewer producers, a much smaller number of feedlots, limited packing operations and only a handful of major retail grocers. Industry consolidation will lead to increased competition for the "right" type of cattle: those that calve unassisted, breed back quickly, gain efficiently, produce a carcass that is acceptable from both a Yield Grade and Quality Grade standpoint, and produce a carcass that results in a tender, consumer-pleasing eating experience. It is clear to me that Santa Gertrudis is the total genetic package fitting all industry segments and that is the reason I am confident SGBI's membership will grow. 🐄

Names in the News

Win Parmer, Alabama

Alabama SGBI member Win Parmer was recognized earlier this year by the Alabama Beef Cattle Improvement Association (BCIA) for his innovative leadership, dedication to the beef industry and commitment to improving beef cattle performance. Parmer, the long-time manager of Grey Rocks Santa Gertrudis Ranch, received the BCIA Richard Deese Award at the association's 50th anniversary celebration. Named for Auburn University's legendary Extension animal scientist, the award isn't given lightly and is presented to individuals who uphold the principles of performance testing and genetic improvement of beef cattle in Alabama. Parmer was specifically honored for his long career dedicated to improving beef cattle performance in all segments of the industry. Alabama Cattlemen's Association Executive Vice President Billy Powell noted that Parmer was a pioneer in the utilization of performance records and genetic information as animal selection tools. As manager of Grey Rocks, Parmer earned numerous performance awards from the BCIA. In 2008, Win's personal operation, Win Parmer Ranch, was named the Alabama BCIA Commercial Producer of the Year. Parmer is a past president of the Alabama Purebred Beef Breeds Council and the Autauga County Cattlemen's Association.

Fred Dietrich, Florida

The University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (IFAS) presented Santa Gertrudis Hall of Fame Member Fred Dietrich with the IFAS Innovative Farmer Award earlier this year. The Innovative Farmer Award recognizes farmers and ranchers who excel in making their farming systems more profitable over the long term,

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

By Curtis Salter

(850) 957-4409 | salterfarms@ymail.com

The October issue of Santa Gertrudis USA includes our annual membership directory. I'm pleased to see it's the same size as last year – an indication that we're maintaining membership numbers at the same level as in recent years. I always enjoy thumbing through this issue to see who renewed their membership and who joined SGBI for the first time.

When my wife Carol remodeled our office/den, she put some pictures on the wall of the first four Santa Gertrudis cows we bought in the early 1980s. Every time I look at those photos, I think about the cattle business and the way it was more than 30 years ago: how we have grown, how the cattle business has changed, and how SGBI has taken charge to become one of the most progressive breed associations in the country. I often think about how blessed we are to own Santa Gertrudis.

Some beef producers have been persuaded to put more emphasis on a black hide than on maternal and carcass characteristics. Now, once again, we have people talking about our cattle – and for good reason. Commercial cattlemen – the steadfast buyers of our bulls – want more information to make buying decisions, and they're getting it first from SGBI. At this point in time, it's no longer news that SGBI took the initiative to become the first American beef breed to release genomically-enhanced expected progeny differences, and did so successfully with different technology (single-step vs. double-step approach) than our British breed counterparts. Cattle producers responded by quickly taking advantage of the information. With this technology, seedstock producers are better able to serve their commercial customers, which in turn will help rebuild the country's cow herd as those essential F1 females start to stay home and make replacements instead of getting loaded on the truck for town.

The time for the cowman has come; 2014 is again projected to give cattle producers record high prices. We have an outstanding association with people who will help you in any way possible. John Ford, Diana Ruiz and Darren Richmond are some of the best people in the world to work with. We have good people in this breed, and we are so blessed to be in the Santa Gertrudis family. Tell the world about what we have, and they'll want it, too.

If I, as your president, or any of your vice presidents, members of the Board of Directors, or SGBI staff can help you in any way, don't hesitate to call one of us.

Until next time, God bless. 🍀 using farming practices that enhance natural resources, leading activities that support viable communities, and providing outreach about sustainable agriculture ideas and practices to others while serving in a leadership role.

Dietrich and his family operate Dietrich's Flying D Ranch in Orlando. The ranch runs a herd of purebred Santa Gertrudis and has always advocated a balanced approach between profitable agricultural production and wildlife habitat conservation. Maintaining the health of the Econlockhatchee River and its associated hardwood swamp has been central to the ranch's management practices. Dietrich, a former agricultural science teacher, has served in many leadership positions over the years, including service on the Orange County Farm Bureau, Orange County Cattlemen's Association and Florida Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association. 🍀

GROWTH $ INDEX AND CARCASS INDEX DECISION TOOLS RELEASED

The SGBI Board of Directors approved the addition of two indices on pedigrees, effective Sept. 1, 2014. Included on certificates of registration for purebred animals are a Growth $ Index and a Carcass Index. The indices are located directly above the weight information on the registration certificate. These indices are designed to assist with breeding selection decisions and have proved to be useful marketing tools. Both were developed with input and guidance from SGBI's Performance Committee utilizing the breed's DNA-verified expected progeny differences (EPDs). Below are the descriptions for the newly released Growth $ Index and Carcass Index.

Growth $ Index: The growth index is a dollar index putting together weaning weight and yearling weight. Since weaning weight is contained in yearling weight, post-wean gain (PWG) is used in the index to prevent double counting weaning weight. As an example, if an animal has a +25 growth index, the animal's offspring would be on the average worth $25 dollars more as yearlings than the breed average, based strictly on weight.

Carcass Rank Index: The carcass rank index contains marbling score, hot carcass weight, ribeye area, tenderness and back fat, and is weighted by the economics of carcass values. It is expressed as a numerical ranking within the breed from 1 to 10, with 10 being the highest. For example, an animal with a score of 9 would be in the 80th percentile or better than 80 percent of the population in carcass composition. A ranking of 6 would place the animal in the 50th percentile or better than 50 percent of the population in carcass composition.

The SGBI Performance Committee is currently working with Livestock Genetic Services on the development of additional easy-to-use selection tools, including a fertility/breed-back tool. Indices combined with the breed's DNA-verified EPDs are designed to provide members and their cattle-buying customers as much information as possible to aid in making breeding decisions and animal selections. 🐄

MEMBER PROFILE: WARREN HARRIS

BY: MICKY BURCH, MANAGING EDITOR

Dreams Do Come True

Warren Harris always knew he wanted to be a cowboy and live in the West. That might sound like a lofty goal for a 9-year-old boy raised in Chicago, but he got it done and, at age 73, is still living his dream.

Originally from the Midwest, Warren's mother's family were long-time land owners in Iowa. His mother went to nursing school in Chicago and there met his father, who was in medical school and became a surgeon. "I always thought I would inherit that ranch, but my grandmother sold it," Warren says simply. His father's side of the family has been in New Mexico for almost a century. "My father's father was a physician," Warren explains. "He moved to Albuquerque in 1917," thus creating a connection to Warren's current location.

During boyhood, Warren remembers hearing about the King Ranch, and seeing a photo of it on the cover of LIFE magazine. He read articles and books about it, and even wrote the ranch a letter asking if he could come visit. "John Cypher wrote the book A World of Grass about Bob Kleberg and the King Ranch," Warren reminisces. "John wrote me back, and said I could come visit, and to bring that letter with me to the front gate to get in." Even with an invitation, Warren had a hard time convincing his parents to make the trip; unfortunately, he didn't get to tour the King Ranch as a boy.

He did, however, get to visit his grandparents in New Mexico regularly, which he greatly enjoyed. Warren always loved the West – especially New Mexico and Texas. He started college at a small school in Seguin, Texas, eventually graduating from the University of Iowa. From there, he moved back south, earning a law degree from the University of New Mexico. And that's where he stayed.

He started practicing law in 1967; one of the groups he most enjoyed working with was the New Mexico Livestock Board. For more than six years, Warren worked hand-in-hand with Lee Garner, executive director of the Livestock Board, prosecuting those who stole cattle and sheep. The Livestock Board also oversaw meat inspection, and one case Warren handled involved horse meat being served through the school lunch program. Over the years, Warren and Lee established a great friendship, and Lee was Warren's best man in his wedding. "I was lucky enough to marry a young lady from New Mexico who shared my interest in ranching, cattle and horses," he continues. Warren and Rose Marie originally made their home in Grants, N.M., where Warren was the assistant district attorney and Rose Marie was the first Hispanic flight attendant for Continental Airlines.

It was Rose Marie who connected Warren with the folks from whom he eventually bought his first Santa Gertrudis females in the 1980s. "She worked on private flights, and got to know John and Nell Connolly – John was the governor of Texas at one time," Warren says proudly. Warren read that

At a young age, Warren knew he wanted to be a cowboy and live in the west.

John and Nell were dispersing their Santa Gertrudis cow herd, so the couple hopped a flight to take in the scene. "We rented a little Ford car and drove to the south side of San Antonio for the sale," Warren remembers. There, he bid on five females "that I never thought I would get," but he did. After the sale, John and Nell gave Rose Marie a big hug, sealing the deal.

Warren is one of the first people to agree that Santa Gertrudis are gentle cattle, and those first females they bought at the Connolly dispersal proved that point to be true – except for one. "She was an older cow and we always called her by her sale number," John says with a laugh. "We never could get 'Old 99' to do anything we asked – she was really wild."

Another favorite example of Warren's of how good Santa Gertrudis cattle are is the story of a bull he bought from Wylie Taliaferro, Double TT Ranch, Rosser, Texas. They were at the Houston sale, and the bull had a bid on him at $2,000. "I was going to hit him once just keep the momentum going," Warren explains. "But I ended up buying him." In the end, it was a great move. He owned that bull for several years, "and we always got a 100-percent calf crop out of him," Warren exclaims. "He just really loved the girls – including Rose Marie." When it was time to pull the bull from the pasture, Warren would drive the pick-up and Rose Marie would sit on the tail gate with a bucket of grain, and that bull would follow

Red Cows Flourish in the Golden State

When one thinks of “sunny California,” the image of Santa Gertrudis cattle grazing clover in the valley or driving by a pasture full of red cows on your way to sightsee at a national park probably doesn’t spring immediately to mind. But for Jason Hixon, Santa Gertrudis are proving to be the best cattle he’s ever raised in the Golden State.

Originally from Bakersfield, Jason grew up around cattle and his father’s auction yard. After earning a degree in business management from Cal State in Bakersfield, he got a job with the state of California that took him north, where he met his wife, Nicole. Today, Jason works in pharmaceutical sales and the couple have two children: son Rawlin and daughter Holly.

For more than 15 years, Jason and Nicole have also had cattle. “At our peak, we had about 130 commercial cows and wanted to continue expanding, but couldn’t find the ground,” Jason explains. While continually brainstorming ideas on where to come up with additional land, they went to a branding with Nicole’s dad, Jerry Dickens, and saw Santa Gertrudis cattle for the first time. For Jerry, who always wanted to be a cattleman, it was love at first sight. After finding out that the owner of the red cows, a gentleman named Joe Lopes, was thinking about dispersing, Jerry convinced Jason he better get his hands on some of them while the getting was good.

Originally, the pair thought they would buy about a dozen replacement heifers to add to Jason and Nicole’s commercial herd. When it came time to make the transaction, though, Jerry and Jason priced the whole Lopes herd – about 30 cows, 10 replacements and a bull. “Since ground is getting harder and harder to come by, it made sense to pursue a registered herd with smaller numbers than try to run a commercial operation – especially in the Sacramento area,” he reasons.

So that’s what they did, and they’ve never looked back – and for good reason. Jason found out quickly that one of the shining characteristics of Santa Gertrudis is their ability to adapt, them. Eventually, they sold him to Red Doc Farm. "He was just terrific," Warren says, like he was an old friend.

In 1994, Warren and Rose Marie went to the Colorado State Fair, where they bought a heifer from Roland Sanchez, Red Doc Farm, Belen, N.M., which marked the start of a close friendship that lasts to this day. Buying that heifer led to the couple showing their Santa Gertrudis and increased their involvement with the breed. Warren was elected to the SGBI Board of Directors for two consecutive terms, a total of six years. The couple continued showing until Rose Marie was in a fatal car accident. "I missed her, and I just couldn't go back to the farm we had," Warren explains, adding that they were married for 25 years.

In 2000, he made the very hard decision to disperse the cattle, and is thankful a friend bought the herd in its entirety. For several years after that, Warren didn't have much to do with cattle. Then, a few years ago, "I decided I had grieved enough, and I bought a good bull from Roland." Warren hit the show road again, having success with the bull at both the New Mexico State Fair and Houston. The following year, he raised the Reserve Grand Champion Female at the New Mexico State Fair. "That little heifer was just six months old at the State Fair," Warren says with a smile. "I still have her – she just calved a couple of weeks ago."

She, along with the rest of his cattle, are kept in Belen; Warren owns a small, irrigated farm adjacent to Red Doc Farm. In addition to tending his small herd of cattle, Warren was elected for his third term to the SGBI Board of Directors two years ago. "I never thought I would actually own these cattle, much less be a part of the Board," he says. "It's just fantastic – the people and the cattle."

Having friends in the breed like Roland and Wylie has lent itself to Warren's continued involvement. Even though he was never a large-scale producer, he has always felt accepted by his fellow Santa Gertrudis enthusiasts. As the current chairman of SGBI's Long Range Planning Committee, Warren likes being able to help make decisions that may improve the breed. During his first term as a Board member, he worked with the executive director they called "Dr. Joe." "He always said we're going to end up with 10 breeds of cattle in this country, and we need to make sure Santa Gertrudis is one of them," Warren reiterates. "My goal as chairman of the Long Range Planning Committee is to make sure we follow that plan and promote this breed."

Given the interest in Santa Gertrudis, Warren sees only positive things for the future of the breed. "People are looking for heifers – as many as 100 head at a time; we have to make it possible for producers to get their hands on those kinds of numbers," he stresses. A large part of that is selling Santa Gertrudis to the commercial cowman in addition to other registered breeders. "We have to make our animal attractive to commercial producers, and we're getting there," Warren points out. "We're making a better product by moderating size and improving other physical characteristics."

Looking ahead, Warren is excited about not only this term of service to the SGBI Board of Directors, but also advancements with his personal herd. For the first time in 2015, the Western Heritage Female Sale will be held alongside Red Doc Farm's Red Hot Bull Sale, and Warren hopes to buy and sell heifers at that sale. "The whole thing is still like a dream come true for me," he concludes. "My goal is to try to breed the best animal possible, and I think we're doing that with Santa Gertrudis." 🐄

PUSHER 804

Pusher 804 is making his mark at Grandview Farms with a pedigree that includes Mars, Grande and Playboy. His first calves have proven themselves as show and sale toppers, including Miss Grandview Annie, the 2013-2014 SGBI High Point Yearling and Polled Female, and the 2014 National Junior Heifer Show Grand Champion Cow/Calf Pair and Best of Polled. Reg. # 1285076

JOHN 316

John 316 is a very solid, up and coming young herd sire – a son of Red Hot 4010. He was the Calf Champion Bull at the 2013 State Fair of Texas the the 2014 Reserve National Champion Bull Calf in Fort Worth. We are looking for great things from this young bull. SANTA GERTRUDIS BREEDERS INTERNATIONAL

Santa Gertrudis Breeders International (SGBI) was organized in 1951 for the following purposes:

- To continue the improvement of Santa Gertrudis cattle throughout the world
- To work for the standardization of the breed by the maintenance of the "Standard of Excellence"
- To protect the breed from misrepresentation
- To establish a practical registry
- To disseminate information and to market, merchandise and promote the breed

Membership in SGBI is open to anyone who is interested in Santa Gertrudis cattle and in the purposes of the Association.

Types of Membership

An Active member is an individual, partnership, corporation or firm that, once approved for membership, is entitled to one vote at meetings of the general membership and may obtain all services of the Association at the member rates.

A Junior member is a young man or woman, under the age of 21 years, who may obtain all services of the Association at the same rates as active members, but is not entitled to vote at general meetings.

A Commercial member receives the official publications of SGBI and all communications that the SGBI office provides. They are entitled to record Star 5 animals and are encouraged to participate in SGBI Star 5 marketing events.

Procedures for Joining

This application form should be fully completed and returned to SGBI with a check in the amount of the membership fee. The new member will receive a membership packet showing the herd number assigned by the association. The new member is then entitled to all of the privileges offered by SGBI for that level of membership. The fiscal year of the Association is April 1 through March 31. Membership is renewable at the beginning of each fiscal year.

which is a good thing, considering the environmental extremes California cattle management can present. "Depending on where we can find winter pasture, our cattle may be on rough country in the Bull pine tree elevation or on coastal range, which is a lot lower elevation," Jason explains. "In the summer, they come down and graze clover in the valley by our home in Oakdale," he says, adding that they pay particular attention to bloat management during the summer through salt and trace mineral use.

Observing the Santa Gertrudis in a variety of west coast climates has been part of the fun of learning about the breed for Jason. "They seem to do well in all environments," he says. "I've seen the cows in action – they hustle the ground and work for their feed, and it shows in their good body condition."

"They seem to do well in all environments. I've seen the cows in action – they hustle the ground and work for their feed, and it shows in their good body condition."

– Jason Hixon

Not only do the Santa Gertrudis take care of themselves, they take excellent care of their offspring, which for Jason arrive in late spring and early summer, and raise a tremendous terminal product. "Their low birth weight has virtually eliminated calving trouble and the cows give everything they have to their calves," he points out. Jason even takes things a step further and feeds out his calves, harvesting the steers he raises.

"A Santa Gertrudis carcass can hold its own compared to any other breed," he says confidently. "I'm a believer." Adding to that belief is that fact that Jason and Nicole still own some of the original cows, branded with a /J, that they purchased from Lopes. "Some of those girls are 12, 13 or even 14 years old, and they've never missed having a calf – it speaks well for the longevity of this breed of cattle," Jason says.

Going forward, Jason and Nicole plan to continue breeding Santa Gertrudis with a bull from Red Doc Farm in Belen, N.M.; and, now that Rawlin is old enough to start showing, Jason hopes his son will take Santa Gertrudis steers to their county fair. While they won't be able to share in the future of the cowherd with Jerry, who passed away in August 2012, Jason is forever grateful to his father-in-law for encouraging him to buy that herd of red cows. 🐄

NATIONALS

June is junior nationals month and junior members come together to compete in purebred and Star 5 divisions, and leadership contests like public speaking, cattle judging, photography and more. Unique to the breed, Santa Gertrudis breeders donate 20 heifers to the show, one for each class winner in the purebred show and one for the Star 5 champion. At the next year's junior nationals, the donated heifers compete for a championship. The week-long event ends with a formal awards banquet.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Annually, the National Santa Gertrudis Youth Foundation awards approximately $30,000 in scholarships to high school seniors. Deserving youth vie for scholarships, and are recognized for their accomplishments at junior nationals.

GOALS

Held every other year for intermediates and seniors, the Gerts Ongoing Advanced Leadership Summit is a camp full of activities and workshops to aid junior Santa Gertrudis members in becoming effective, compassionate and influential leaders.

See page 40 of this issue for a membership application.

SANTA GERTRUDIS

Juniors

By Morgan Barrow, NJSGA treasurer

Hello Everyone,
I am Morgan Barrow and I'm from Guthrie, Okla. I'm very excited about the fall shows coming up, and hope to attend and see everyone at the State Fair of Texas, the Arkansas State Fair and the State Fair of Louisiana. Currently, I am a senior in high school and am concurrently enrolled at the University of Central Oklahoma. I not only show Santa Gertrudis, but I also show pigs and am showing a steer this year. My FFA advisors from last year have retired and our school has three new teachers. I am eager to bring the new things I learn to the Junior Board to help us expand our membership. One thing my family and I are currently focused on is hosting the National Junior Santa Gertrudis Heifer Show in Guthrie, Okla., in 2015. It will be held in the historic and air-conditioned Lazy E Arena. We hope you will love this beautiful facility and we hope you enjoy the events we are planning. I pray everyone travels safely to the next show they are attending, and good luck.

Remember Philippians 4:13: I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me. 🙏

An American Treasure

T.D. Ulrich, age 90 and active proprietor of Shaker Hill Farm, attended the Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana State Fairs this summer – a daunting pursuit for a man of any age. Unless that man is T.D. In fact, the pioneering Lebanon, Ohio, resident has painted more progress in the past decade, and the ones before it, than most will dream in a lifetime.

“He is the kind of person you don’t see anymore,” said son Dan Ulrich of his father’s work ethic, high principles and firm resolve.

Indeed, we cherish the men of T.D.’s generation – the Depression Era youth, the WW II heroes, the self-made success stories. T.D. is all of those, honored here for his contribution to America as well as the Santa Gertrudis breed.

An American Hero

T.D. was born June 6. Across the years, Dan heard people remark, “Oh, you were born on D-Day.” To which T.D. replied, “No, D-day happened on my birthday.” And so it did, while T.D. served aboard the USS Salute, a Navy ocean-going minesweeper that patrolled ahead of 23 invasions.

USS Salute, Puget Sound Navy Yard, March, 1944.

During sweeping operations for the invasion at Borneo, the USS Salute struck a mine, suffered a buckling mid-ship blow and sank on June 8, 1945. T.D. was in the bottom deck with his mates, including a radio technician who sustained two broken legs. T.D. helped him and others escape the vessel into the water and would later receive a Purple Heart.

T.D. was born and reared near Hamilton, Ohio. When he was 13, his father went blind and the family relocated to his grandparents’ farm, where

T.D. would grow up in the grip of the Depression. When he was old enough, he found work with the Armco Steel Corporation until he enlisted in the Navy at age 18. Following his honorable discharge, T.D. attended the University of Mississippi on the GI Bill.

A Business Success

In the late 1940s, T.D. married his wife, Marilyn, and returned to work for Armco Steel, which would inspire his entry into the highway paint and guardrails business. In the early 1950s, T.D. landed a contract with the Ohio Department of Transportation to install guardrails, and business flourished. He branched into the pavement-marking business in the ‘60s, which expanded into various traffic control enterprises, such as sign erection and marker installation.

T.D. and Marilyn had two sons, Dan and Dale. In 1967, Dan bought out T.D.’s early business partner and worked alongside his father until 2005, when they sold the business. During that time, the company became one of the largest traffic control services east of the Mississippi, performing road work from Maine to Arizona.

No stranger to work, T.D. was “on the job” until he sold the company at age 81.

“He is a man of high principle,” said Dan. When it came to running a business, he expected a day’s work for a day’s pay, but with his stern-but-fair approach, T.D.’s business was successful because, “He stood behind his work...and a handshake was his word,” Dan explained.

“He’s one of those people for whom hard work paid off,” said long-time friend and fellow Santa Gertrudis breeder Larry Osborne, Mosby Creek Ranch, Dayton, Ohio.

This diligence led T.D. in 1960 to purchase Shaker Hill Farm, aptly named after a local landmark called “Shaker Hill” near a one-time Shaker settlement. The farmhouse, where T.D. still resides, outdates Lebanon’s famous hotel, The Golden Lamb, where several U.S. presidents have stayed.

An Eye for Perfection

at Shaker Hill Farm. Beginning with Morgan horses in the 1960s, T.D. at one time had 100 horses in his breeding operation. He raised several titleholders, including an all-time leading brood mare sire producing five world champions, Troutbook Playboy.

While on a highway job near Wilmington, Ohio, T.D. noticed two Santa Gertrudis bulls standing in the field. “He purchased one or both of them,” recalls Osborne, because they were “the prettiest cattle he had seen,” and the rest was history.

OU Super Star was many-time champion for Shaker Hill Farm.

T.D. got in touch with John Wilson of the Lazy E Ranch in Fort Worth, Texas, and bought Bullet, a national Best of Poll winner that, in Osborne’s opinion, was responsible for turning around polled cattle in the Santa Gertrudis breed.

He acquired Playboy from David Harris and Harris Riverbend Farm in Cleburne, Texas – a two-time high point Bull of the Year.

“He’s always striving for the best,” said Dan. In the early days, long-time Santa Gertrudis producers wondered how a guy from Ohio could pick such winners, he added.

Dan attributes much of his dad’s success in champion rearing to a gift, perhaps seeing where others don't the Golden Ratio in animals. Dan said, "It's the closest I can come to explaining it."

The Golden Ratio has captivated scholars of all disciplines, from architects to naturalists, for thousands of years, as they ponder whether this perfect proportion is what makes something aesthetically pleasing. Regardless, "He always had a great eye for what makes an animal beautiful," said Dan.

A Loyal Friend

After his wife's passing in 2006, T.D. hit the Santa Gertrudis show and sale circuit with Osborne.

Larry and T.D. purchased a son of Hatchett they named OU Superstar out of Goodman Farm in Indiana. The sire was a national champion and produced a number of champions, including Kentucky Star, Red Solo Cup and daughter Rosie that Osborne's son owns.

T.D. now owns a Gelbvieh bull named Sierra that has produced "as many herd sires as any," by Osborne's reckoning, as well as several Ohio Beef Expo and State Fair champions and reserves.

Osborne describes T.D. as a kind-hearted man "who would give a friend the shirt off his back.

"In life you have a lot of acquaintances and so-called friends, but when you really get down to brass tacks, I consider T.D. a true friend," said Osborne. "If I needed something, he'd be there; if he needed something, I'd be there."

These days, T.D. is sharper than ever, according to Dan. "He stays active, which I attribute to his longevity more than anything."

So happy 90th year to a war hero, a self-made man, a champion cattleman and a good friend. May you have many prosperous years ahead. 🍀

The KING RANCH

*Your Source for the
"Original" Santa
Gertrudis Genetics*

Established 1853

When building a program, you must start with a solid foundation. Whether you are breeding seedstock or commercial animals, you need to start with a quality product that will turn a profit. King Ranch purebred Santa Gertrudis and Santa Gertrudis-influenced genetics can provide just that. Our cattle were derived from the need for performance in feedyards and breeding programs, which means they must be fertile, efficient and profitable. The combination of Brahman and Shorthorn genetics have formed a cross that is hardy and effective in a wide range of climates and conditions. The King Ranch: where it all began.
