EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

By Webb D. Fields

(361) 592-9357 | wfields@santagertrudis.com

A full plate does not seem like the right term for this time of year – school, sports, work, cattle sales, cattle shows, etc. You name it and the list just seems to get longer. For Santa Gertrudis Breeders International (SGBI), this is no different. The SGBI Board of Directors continues to be active in just wanting to communicate more among themselves. After a goal set this spring not only to have more interaction among the board but also relay that information back to membership more aggressively, the board continues to meet frequently to ensure goals are being set and deadlines are met. At the same time, it has been fun to see the committees continuing to be active, allowing for more feedback and activity among those members who might not be on the board, but who have great ideas and want to have involvement within the breed.

After much discussion, the board of directors has determined that, because SGBI is an association run by its membership, the members have the right to data and information that they collected on their herd. As a result of this decision and requests we have received, SGBI has shared performance and DNA information back with members who have submitted those requests. We continue to work openly alongside our members to fulfill any requests we receive that allows you, as a member, to better quantify quality within your herd and market that quality. If you ever have a request or feel that we could potentially provide something for you to better your operation, just let us know.

We have also recently added to the SGBI staff. Kristy Gonzalez joined our office this past month. Kristy is working on a part-time basis, filling in some of the gaps left by Diana's retirement. While Diana continues to help on a part-time basis, having Kristy in the office allows us to operate at capacity. She is already proving of value, and I am excited to have her on the team.

As this is the membership issue, a few thoughts come to mind. Without its members, SGBI would not exist. More than 70 years of like-minded people getting together and developing relationships over a breed of cattle is really the backbone of our association. Like any well-run association, rules and structure must be implemented and changed from time to time as the need arises and needs of the membership change. While there must be leadership, a board of directors, staff, consul-ants, influencers, etc., the backbone is and remains the membership as a whole.

When decisions are made, it must be made with the intention that it positively helps the association as a whole, with no weight placed on whether or not it benefits the few. Simultaneously we must remember why we are here. We are all a part of SGBI because we love these red-headed cattle. We love the industry that we are in at large and what it represents, and we are doing business and associating ourselves with like-minded people.

For the breed to grow and flourish we must remember not only to strive for progress but also reach out among one another for friendship and fellowship. Lucky for us, we have some of the best people I know within our membership, and the future remains bright for Santa Gertrudis. 🤠

10 Reasons SGBI Is a Valuable Tool

1. Maintains the registry of Santa Gertrudis cattle.
2. Hosts events to create opportunities for breeders to network and grow their businesses.
3. Promotes the long-term profitability of Santa Gertrudis influence within the beef industry through print advertising, social media, etc.
4. Fosters relationships with academia to develop breed-specific research and educational outreach opportunities.
5. Strengthens information and data sharing alliances with beef industry stakeholders that will create demand for Santa Gertrudis and Santa Gertrudis-influenced cattle. (Read about the latest endeavor on page 44.)
6. Provides management and decision-making tools to identify and replicate economically relevant traits that strengthen the breed's genetic package.
7. Adopts technologies that better position members to meet anticipated demand for high-quality cattle.
8. Operates with a sound financial strategy to ensure long-term association viability.
9. Improves member and customer profitability, sustainability and satisfaction.
10. Places an emphasis on junior member learning opportunities with a focus on commercial beef production.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

By Gene Kubecka

(979) 240-5311 | wendtranches@hotmail.com

Let the green grass grow! Along the middle Texas Gulf Coast we have been blessed with an abundant amount of rainfall the last few weeks. Pastures are back to producing very digestible, tender, green forage and the cattle are loving it – so are our pocket-books! Hopefully most of our membership has finally received some moisture, and the fall grazing situation is looking better each day.

Following recommendations from the association's Long Range Planning and Research and Education committees, the Santa Gertrudis Breeders International (SGBI) Board of Directors recently voted to join the Genetic Merit Pricing Task Force. This decision will make a significant difference for Santa Gertrudis breeders and the price they get for their feeder calves. I am very excited about this new endeavor, and I encourage you to read more about it on page 44.

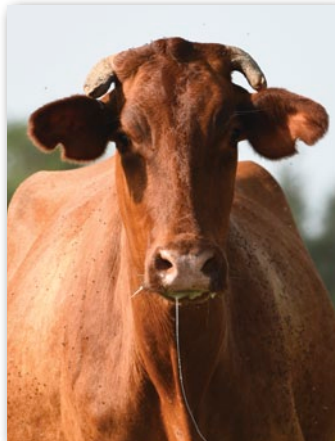

As our breed moves forward through thick and thin, we must come together to meet the challenges that are before us. SGBI Past President Nancy Wundert wrote this in her President's Letter a year ago:

The SGBI preamble charges our membership to 'continue the improvement of the Santa Gertrudis breed of beef cattle ...' Now, we as a membership, has to work together to meet this goal for the breed's survival in an ever-changing, fluid cattle market. Working together means that we bring to the decision-making table our own experiences of 'good works' to move forward, putting aside our own personal agendas. Deliberations need to be greeted with respect and consideration from all to make decisions based on the most recent information we have at hand that is best for the Santa Gertrudis breed's integrity and dignity in the cattle industry. Once these decisions are made, after all the heated discussions and deliberations, we must emerge as a united membership with sound speech to keep moving in a positive direction that is best for the breed.

As a diverse membership working together, we must continue to combine our sundry of talents along with our varied experiences to accomplish our purpose in the cattle industry. A longtime SGBI member explained that the 'best way for members to understand how things work is to get involved.' I challenge you as a progressive SGBI member to join the decision-making process and show yourself to be a model of good works.

Fall sale catalogs are being prepared and mailed. There is an abundance of sales each fall where breeders can add some really outstanding genetics to their herds. The SGBI office continues to process membership renewals and herd inventory updates. If you have not had a chance to do this, please take time to get your herd inventory and membership up to date.

Let's do great things together! 🐄

SANTA GERTRUDIS Juniors

By Madison Moran, Secretary

If a new show family asked you, "Why Santa Gertrudis?" what would you say? Howdy. I'm Madison Moran, a 17-year-old from Brenham, Texas. I am currently serving as the National Junior Santa Gertrudis Association (NJSGA) secretary and a District 1 director on the NJSGA Board. My love for Santa Gertrudis cattle was never a question as I have grown up around the breed, but when someone asks me about this breed, I have many points to share.

Membership is a huge part of any breed; it is the foundation of any organization and creates a sense of belonging to a group. The key to keeping a strong membership is having benefits that members can enjoy. The SGBI Foundation is constantly giving back to the junior members in the form of generous scholarships to graduating seniors. Another benefit to our members is the outstanding donated heifer program that our breed has at the National Junior Santa Gertrudis Show. This is a huge talking point to get new members into the door when they are considering joining the association. Our association has many events that entice junior members and their families to become and stay involved through the years.

SANTA GERTRUDIS Production CALF SCOURS IS A MULTI-FACETED PROBLEM

By Randy L. Stanko, Ph.D., Texas A&M University-Kingsville

I would venture to guess that most of us received much needed late summer/early fall rain. It sure was nice, maybe too much and too late, but we will take it. In some parts of south Texas, it rained consistently for several weeks in a row. This amount of rain produced wet, muddy and extremely challenging environments for fall-calving herds. Many producers were battling mild to severe cases of scouring calves coincident with the increased moisture. Thus, I was prompted to review the causes of calf scours.

No doubt, a scouring calf is something we would prefer to not see in the calving pen/pasture. Scours in a calf is not a single-disease problem but rather a symptom of many possible health problems (Ex. bacterial, viral, protozoan or yeasts/mold). Diarrhea (scours) prevents normal absorption of fluid from the digestive tract, which leads to more body fluids passing into the intestine. The major problems resulting from scours are severe dehydration, loss of essential electrolytes (Na, K) and a build-up of an acidic environment within the digestive track. A baby calf is born consisting of 70 percent water, and a severe bout with scours will cause it to go “downhill” rapidly. Death due to scours is predominantly due to dehydration, regardless of the initial infectious agent.

Specific causes of calf scours are grouped into noninfectious and infectious categories. To prevent scours, we need to work on both categories in a programmatic fashion because they seem to work together. Noninfectious causes of calf scours include poor dam nutrition during the last one-third of gestation, which influences the quantity and quality of colostrum; poor environment (muddy, wet, crowded, manure contaminated) for the newborn calf, causing added stress plus increased exposure to infectious agents; and difficult birthing, adverse weather during calving and inadequate consumption of colostrum (precious antibodies). Recall that we have a limited amount of time (6 to 12 hours) for the calf to absorb those colostrum antibodies.

Infectious bacterial agents that can cause calf scours are Escherichia coli, Salmonella, Clostridium perfringens and others. Infectious viral agents include rotavirus, coronavirus, BVD virus and IBR virus. Protozoan agents that can cause calf scours are coccidia and cryptosporidium. If the cow herd has been vaccinated for any or all of these infectious agents, the newborn calves must nurse colostrum to receive full protection.

With all this information, it would be safe to assume that mother nature sets us up for a perfect “storm” of calf scours. With severe drought affecting most of the beef cattle country in the southern United States, many fall-calving cows ended their gestation period in poor body condition. Those cows that calved prior to the monsoon most likely had scour-free calves. However, once the rain started and then continued, those calves were born in less-than-optimal environmental conditions and may have been consuming sub-par colostrum. The rain continued. Everything got worse and many, many calves had scours.

Treatment for calf scours must focus on fixing the dehydration, acidosis and electrolyte loss problems. Oral fluids will work early in the treatment, but if dehydration progresses then intravenous fluid treatment may be necessary. Antibiotics can be given along with the fluids, either orally or by injection. Always consult with your veterinarian which antibiotics are most effective in the treatment of calf scours in your region. Oral electrolyte powders can be purchased from any animal health retailer. If it is impossible for you to acquire any, I came across a homemade recipe: 1 tablespoon of baking soda + 1 teaspoon of salt + 8 ounces of 50 percent dextrose (not table sugar); then add enough warm water to prepare 1 gallon of stock fluid. Administer up to 1 quart of the stock fluid every four hours as the only source of nutrition for a period of 24 to 48 hours. Warning! Do not feed any milk or milk replacer because it will make things worse (bacteria love milk). Put the calf back with its milked-out dam as soon as it can stand and follow her. 🐄

DNA Submission Procedures

The Santa Gertrudis Breeders International (SGBI) office is experiencing an increase in the number of DNA submissions we are receiving. With this in mind, we thought it was a good time to share some reminders of the DNA submission process to help you successfully navigate the steps.

When it comes to DNA testing, the earlier you submit your samples, the better. By submitting your samples as soon as possible, the more likely you are to save yourself unnecessary stress and frustration. It takes four weeks from the time a breeder mails their samples to SGBI to when they receive DNA results from the association. If there's any re-testing or incorrect paperwork delays, four weeks can quickly turn into eight. It's always best to plan ahead and allow for extra time in case there are problems with the initial submission.

When collecting DNA, remember to use the proper DNA testing kits from Neogen, including tissue sample units (TSU), and hair and blood cards. Once DNA samples are collected, complete the SGBI DNA submission form, which is available to download from the SGBI website under Member Resources tab.

When completing the DNA submission form, follow these steps:

1. Properly identify your samples using the sample barcode indicated on the test kit and list the SGBI registration number for the animal from which the sample was collected. It is imperative that the animal's registration number corresponds to the DNA sample so the genomic data will be linked to the animal in the DigitalBeef registry system.
2. Indicate the test product you seek for genotyping.
3. List a herd number for your order. This is important for work order/billing information and to ensure you receive updates on your DNA submission.
4. For sire tracing and animals with multiple sires, complete the section on the form under Parentage and list possible sire(s). Does the sire and/or dam have DNA on file? If not, parentage results will not be found.
5. If you make a mistake when completing the form, it is best to complete a new form entirely. Information can be easily misinterpreted; therefore, list only the registration number of the animal and the corresponding DNA sample barcode clearly in each designated section on the form.

6. Do not send samples without an accompanying DNA submission form as this will delay the process. The DNA coordinator will request a completed form before processing your DNA order.
7. For large DNA submissions, please provide a separate listing of the animals and sample barcodes, preferably in table/spreadsheet form.
8. Send the submission form and accompanying DNA samples to SGBI, PO Box 1257, Kingsville, TX 78363. We encourage you to ship your samples to SGBI using a method that allows you to track the shipment. A failed sample may result due to poor-quality DNA. Some general issues for sample failure include:

- No tissue was present in the TSU vial or the sample was trapped in the cap, preventing it from being preserved. TSU should be kept at room temperature and are viable for 12 months after collection. To prevent DNA degradation, keep TSU from lengthy exposure to sunlight.
- Too few follicles on the hair card collector or small follicles taken from young calves (DNA occurs at the root, not on the hair strand).
- Semen straws can be easily damaged, so proper packaging is highly recommended. Use an empty ballpoint pen tube and cap to ensure the straw is protected during shipment. Place the pen tube with straw in a Ziplock bag and padded envelope for shipping. (Straws can be stored at room temperature.)

- Insufficient blood is spotted on the blood card. Ensure the circle is filled and blood is visible on both side of the paper. Let the blood dry completely before closing the card.
- Improper shipping can damage DNA samples. Hair and blood cards should be placed in a plastic Ziplock bag and mailed in a sturdy, padded envelope. TSU samples should be placed in a plastic Ziplock bag and shipped in a box or padded/bubble envelope.

Upon receipt of DNA samples, SGBI's DNA coordinator will complete a pre-submission test order and will mail the samples directly to Neogen's test lab. DNA submission occurs twice a month, early to mid-month and again at the end of the month. Genomic information will be available for parentage verification in four to six weeks, and the results will be provided via email. Be sure to list your primary email address on your member profile to receive results and updates on DNA submissions.

Completing the DNA submission form is the best practice for ensuring your DNA samples will be processed in a timely manner. Questions regarding DNA collection and the submission process should be directed to SGBI DNA Coordinator Melissa Braden by emailing melissa@santagertrudis.com or calling (361) 592-9357. 📞

It takes four weeks from the time a breeder mails their samples to SGBI to when they receive DNA results from the association.

Reports

WENDT RANCHES BABY DOLL SALE

AUG. 30, 2022 | BAY CITY, TEXAS

SALE AVERAGES

13 Open Heifers $7,250

The high-selling lot, Wendt's Red Carpet 1889, was sold to Caleb Bram, Louise, Texas, for $20,500. The second high-selling lot, Wendt's Dreamboat 1825, was sold to Trustyn Cumberland, Kingsville, Texas, for $11,000. 🐄

THE FOUNDATION GENETIC OFFERING SALE

AUG. 31-SEPT. 2, 2022 | ONLINE

The Santa Gertrudis Foundation hosted the Foundation Genetic Offering Sale on DVAuction. The elite embryo sale was organized to raise funds for future research and educational opportunities for the breed. The foundation would like to thank the following donors for consigning to this first-time event: Briggs Ranches, Victoria, Texas; Cherokee Ranch, Sedalia, Colo.; DP Cattle Company LLC, Hamilton, Ala.; Harris Farms, Cleburne, Texas; Hefte Ranch, Hondo, Texas; KT Cattle, Hondo, Texas; Mattingly Farms, Brandenburg, Ky.; Strait Ranches, Streetman, Texas; Tinney Farms, Hanceville, Ala.; and Wendt Ranches Partners LLC, Bay City, Texas.

The funds raised through the Santa Gertrudis Foundation will allow our breed to participate in university-based research projects throughout the United States.

The high-selling lot, four sexed embryos by Red Doc ET Todo 9561 x SR 94/18, was donated by Hefte Ranch and was purchased by Robert Honza, Ennis, Texas.

Buyers of embryos in this offering were: Hefte Ranch; Thomas Burnett Cattle Farm, Troup, Texas; Strait Ranches; Zajic Farms, Ennis, Texas; Old Agency Reserve, Elijah Robinson, Reynolds, Ga.; Robert Honza; Four J Cattle Company, Larry Justiss, Hallettsville, Texas; Grandview Farms, Hamilton, Ala.; Bryan Dyck, Seminole, Texas; and Chris Hagan, Hawkins, Texas.

The Santa Gertrudis Foundation is appreciative of the embryo donors and buyers as well as DVAuction and Ideal Video Productions for their help in hosting the sale. 🐄

I call this breed a family, our show family, because that's truly what it is to me. Growing up so close to this organization and its members, I have learned that it truly is a family atmosphere that you don't understand until you are surrounded by it. The Santa Gertrudis breed will always have a special place in my heart, and I thank the members of the association for that. 🐄

Market Your Elite Genetics in the 2023 Semen Catalog

The bi-annual SGBI Semen Catalog is an incredible marketing tool available to Santa Gertrudis breeders, so don't miss your chance to be included in the 2023 catalog. As part of the January 2023 issue of Santa Gertrudis USA, the SGBI Semen Catalog will once again be produced in English and Spanish. As a bonus, it will also have expanded distribution at Santa Gertrudis events, internationally and by request for the next two years. Don't miss your chance at this is unique opportunity.

For more information and to reserve your space in the SGBI Semen Catalog, contact Darren Richmond at (423) 364-9281 or djrichmd@gmail.com. 🐄

The semen catalog offers the breeder a unique opportunity to showcase not only proven herd sires but also the up-and-coming ones. The ability for a breeder to offer a potential herd sire's genetics to a wide range of different genetics throughout the breed – both purebred and commercial operations alike – should make all of us want to advertise in the catalog.

Time for Change

TASK FORCE AIMS TO CHANGE THE WAY FEEDER CATTLE ARE PRICED

It's no secret that for decades, the U.S. feeder cattle market has used hide color as a proxy for genetic merit and cattle quality. Across the United States, black-hided cattle frequently bring a higher price than colored cattle of equal weight, quality, sex and health history. But is hide color a characteristic that can accurately predict performance?

The answer is a resounding no, and a recent survey conducted by the Red Angus Association of America (RAAA) reveals that the industry may be ready to change the way cattle are valued.

Genetic merit should matter more, not hide color, the survey reveals. Results show cattle feeders and other industry stakeholders would like to see the feeder cattle market become more objective in its pricing methods. Respondents believe the current hide-color emphasis has endured beyond its point of greatest benefit and needs to be replaced.

"These results portray the sentiment of the cattle feeding sector and many others involved in the beef industry," says Tom Brink, RAAA CEO and survey administrator. "The logic of moving in the direction cattle feeders desire certainly makes sense. A market that rewards objective value characteristics above superficial traits sends a strong signal for real improvement in feeder cattle quality and value."

There is recognition by those surveyed that market emphasis on a black hide did lead to an overall improvement in feeder cattle and carcass quality. However, survey data indicates 92 percent want changes for the future. Price discovery using specific genetic and genomic information on individual groups of feeder cattle can lead the industry in the direction of consistently better feeder cattle quality in the years ahead and is preferred over hide color for that purpose.

"To me, the most exciting thing about the survey results is the overwhelming sentiment that we need to make a change," says Steve Koester, RAAA president. "It's not in favor of any single breed. It's not against any single breed. This is absolutely just trying to find a way to market feeder cattle based on quality vs. a phenotypic trait like hide color."

Genetic Merit Pricing Task Force

With survey results revealing that cattle feeders support a change in the way value is assigned and strongly desire to shift the market's emphasis from hide color to pricing decisions based on value-oriented, objectively determined attributes – such as genetic potential for growth, efficiency and carcass performance – the journey to determine the best way to move forward, and where the industry wants to change the market for the better has begun with the formation of the Genetic Merit Pricing Task Force.

"We want to put wheels under the survey results," Brink says. "We're working to really rally the industry around the topic of moving the feeder cattle market from superficial evaluation to objective valuation, more objective-based pricing."

The Genetic Merit Pricing Task Force will be an industry-based, voluntary group charged with increasing the use of genetic merit in pricing in the feeder cattle market. The task force will also seek ways to reduce and/or eliminate the influence of hide color in the commercial feeder cattle and calf markets. Its purpose will therefore be to identify ways to bring about significant change in how feeder cattle are priced.

"We need to look at different ways to change and better this industry and the verification of cattle based on their quality vs. their hide color," Koester says.

The task force will include representatives from all segments of the beef supply chain, including commercial cow-calf, stocker/backgrounders, cattle feeders, auction/video auction, packers, retail/food service and breed associations.

“Everyone needs to have a seat at this table or at least be able to express their opinions, views and ideas so the best strategies can be developed,” Koester says. “In our opinion, no one entity has the resources and the time to change an entire industry. The industry needs to change itself. That’s why it’s an industry-wide task force.”

SGBI's Seat at the Table

What does this task force mean for Santa Gertrudis Breeders International (SGBI) members? Why should Santa Gertrudis breeders be excited about the survey results and task force mobilization? Because generations of Santa Gertrudis breeders have experienced first-hand how their red-hided cattle often sell below where they would if they were black hided. But Santa Gertrudis breeders are well aware of their cattle’s true value as determined by real value attributes – like cattle performance, efficiency and carcass quality – rather than superficial characteristics such as hide color.

In early September following a vote by its board of directors, SGBI accepted its invitation to join the task force. With the association’s financial support, SGBI is the first Bos indicus breed association to become a task force member.

“Approving this funding and joining the task force is monumental for our association and our members,” says Gene Kubecka, SGBI president. “The board’s vote to participate in this initiative gives us a seat at the table where we can share our perspectives as a red-hided breed and will ultimately make a significant difference for Santa Gertrudis breeders and the price they get for their feeder calves in the future.”

“We’re excited for SGBI to be a partner with us on the task force,” Brink says. “Santa Gertrudis breeders do a great job of looking at their cattle objectively and really focusing on breed improvement, and we’re grateful they have decided to join us.”

“Santa Gertrudis have proved to be one of the world’s leading and most efficient producers of quality beef for many years, and it’s time the market celebrates that, rather than penalizes the cattle simply due to their hide color,” Kubecka says. “Our board members are excited for what our involvement in the Genetic Merit Pricing Task Force will mean for our members, our breed, our association and the cattle industry.”

Editor’s Note: For a copy of the survey results, visit <https://redangus.org>. 📄

SURVEY RESULTS

The RAAA survey was conducted from October 2021 to February 2022. Respondents included cattle feeders, feedlots, cattle buyers, auction managers and industry experts employed in various facets of cattle-related agribusiness or education/Extension. Cattle feeders and non-cattle feeders’ answers aligned closely on all eight survey questions.

Q1. Hide color significantly affects prices paid for different groups of U.S. feeder cattle.

Agree/Strongly Agree – 95%

Unsure – 2%

Disagree/Strongly Disagree – 3%

Q2. Black-hided feeder cattle and calves frequently bring a higher price than non-black-hided cattle of equal weight, quality, sex and health history.

Agree/Strongly Agree – 94%

Unsure – 3%

Disagree/Strongly Disagree – 3%

Q3. Black-hided feeder cattle are superior to non-black cattle of equal weight, sex and health history.

Agree/Strongly Agree – 13%

Unsure – 12%

Disagree/Strongly Disagree...75%

Q4. During the past 25 years, emphasis on black-hided animals has helped the beef industry advance in a positive direction relative to overall feeder cattle quality and value.

Agree/Strongly Agree – 73%

Unsure – 17%

Disagree/Strongly Disagree – 10%

Q5. For the beef industry to continue improving its overall cattle quality and value, hide color must remain an important price-determining factor in the U.S. feeder cattle market.

Agree/Strongly Agree – 11%

Unsure – 18%

Disagree/Strongly Disagree – 71%

Q6. For the beef industry to continue improving its overall cattle quality and value, hide color should be replaced with more objective genetic criteria as a key price determining factor(s) in the U.S. feeder cattle market.

Agree/Strongly Agree – 92%

Unsure – 6%

Disagree/Strongly Disagree – 2%

Q7. The use of specific genetic or genomic information on groups of feeder cattle would be preferable to hide color as an important price determinant in the feeder cattle market.

Agree/Strongly Agree – 88%

Unsure – 9%

Disagree/Strongly Disagree – 3%

Q8. Specific genetic or genomic information on groups of feeder cattle more strongly correlates to actual feeding and carcass results than does hide color.

Agree/Strongly Agree – 93%

Unsure – 6.6%

Disagree/Strongly Disagree – 4%

Remembering Helen Kleberg Groves

1927-2022

Story and photos by Kent B. Ward, KB Consulting

Helen (Helenita) Kleberg Groves was the last of her kind. She passed away peacefully at her home in San Antonio, Texas, on May 6, 2022, at the age of 94. Born in the same city, she was the only child of Robert (Bob) Justus Kleberg, Jr., and Helen Campbell Kleberg.

She was described as a hard-riding, tough-as-cactus cowgirl who grew up working right alongside the hands at the vast expanse of King Ranch in south Texas. Founded in 1853, the cattle empire was once the largest operations of its kind in the United States. Helenita craved and had a history with horses and cattle as vast as the mighty ranch where she spent her youth riding the range. However, she never limited herself to a single type or breed.

Raised on the King Ranch, Helenita graduated from Foxcroft School in Middleburg, Va., and attended Vassar College. From there she began her long, fascinating and varied life. With many passions in her life, ranching, fine horses and her family were to remain her central focus. Her abiding love of King Ranch, its land, its Santa Gertrudis cattle and the people who worked there, formed the foundation for all she did. Helenita was a crack shot. With her Colt pistol she often outshone the men and continued her keen love of dove and quail hunting into her nineties.

Helenita was involved in ranching all her life. She oversaw King Ranch's Buck and Doe Run Valley Farms in Chester County, Pa., her own Silverbrook Farms in Staunton, Va., and Silverbrook Ranches in Texas, and she focused on raising the best Santa Gertrudis and Quarter Horses in the country.

*She carved a wide swath through the bovine and equine world and was a friend to countless people and generations around the world.
She was the last of her kind.*

A skilled rider, she loved competing across the country, winning many championship buckles and collecting limitless friends along the way. She campaigned many champion cutting horses, including Miss Peppy Also and Pay 21. She became known as the “First Lady of Cutting” and was inducted into the Cowgirl Hall of Fame in 1998. Thoroughbreds were also a lifelong passion. She bred, owned and raced numerous horses in her rust and lavender silks throughout her long life.

A lifelong learner interested in numerous subjects, including history, politics, the arts and the sciences, Helenita was a voracious reader with a steely memory. She thoroughly enjoyed lunching with many of the prominent scientists from the institutions she supported, continuously expanding her broad intellect. She also was devoted to her strong corps of “Monday Night Ladies,” who are known to be the catalysts for much of the important charitable and political work done in San Antonio.

Helenita was an extraordinary philanthropist who took her service very seriously. She served as president of the Robert J. and Helen C. Kleberg Foundation until 2020 and continued on the board until her death.

Her knowledge and acumen as a rancher, horsewoman and cattle raiser made her an indispensable member and leader on many boards, including the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, the National Cutting Horse Association, the U.S. Equestrian Team and, of course, her beloved King Ranch, where she served as a director from 1956 to 1988 and where her influence was felt for the remainder of her life.

Helenita’s contributions were recognized by more institutions and organizations than can be printed here. She left a mark wherever she went. Full of curiosity, she always put her fullest effort into every day of her life and engaged many fine friends along the way.

In 2013 at the centenary celebrations of Kleberg County, Helenita uttered the sentence, “I am the last member of my generation left standing.” She carved a wide swath through the bovine and equine world and was a friend to countless people and generations around the world. She was the last of her kind. 🤠
